

For Your Entertainment and Guidance

If the format of this evening's performance bears a passing resemblance to a certain function at Glyndebourne, then don't be too surprised. After all, Glyndebourne is an extremely popular occasion and has grown enormously from the very first embryo effort at opera in a country house setting. So why not here? Why not at Fontilles, where there is a delightful, old theatre, some beautiful picnic spots, room to stroll and, with a modicum of luck, rather better weather than might be expected in England? Who is to say that, if this first venture is successful, the idea could not be extended in the following years?

The programme has been devised to bring a taste of some of the most popular operas within the reach of many who perhaps feel somewhat starved of international culture here on the Costa Blanca. In the first half of the programme we have staged production extracts from such favourites as Pagliacci, Tosca, The Pearl Fishers and Faust. A wide range of music here and something to suit most tastes. Even those for whom opera is quite new will experience the beauty and intense emotion generated by this very special art form.

The specially extended interval will allow the audience to step out into the fresh air, set up their picnics and enjoy some of the delights of Fontilles. For many people the scale of the sanatorium and the beauty of the old buildings will come as a delightful surprise. Bear in mind that this is not just a hospital and a research establishment of worldwide repute, but a living, working village with residents who are pleased to make you welcome. Also, please just remember when you are in the grounds that smoking and trees and dry undergrowth are a potentially volatile mixture in Spain!

commences the whole scene and tone of the production is changed. Set perhaps in old Vienna, we shall enjoy concert versions of many favourites provided by our trio of excellent singers. In addition, we shall have the added enjoyment of specially choreographed ballet inserts.

This production is a joint presentation of Viva La Ópera and Careline Theatre. Viva La Ópera, under its Director, John Brecknock, and Stage Director, John Bennetts, is responsible for providing your evening's entertainment on stage. Careline Theatre's role in this production is to provide all the other aspects of the presentation, including provision of the theatre, theatre staff and technical operators, publicity and ticket sales, souvenir programmes, etc., etc.. All these tasks are performed, unpaid, by willing volunteers.

Careline Theatre was started in 1996 as a Section of Careline/Com-Sanit, a registered Spanish charity providing funds for the improvement and maintenance of the health service in the local area. The lovely theatre at Fontilles had long remained practically unused, and it was a mutually beneficial arrangement that allowed Careline Theatre to begin an ambitious programme of refurbishment. The whole of the stage was re-rope with one kilometre of new rope so that scenery could be 'flown'. The stage itself was completely resurfaced. Badly needed rewiring was carried out right through the theatre. Second-hand, professional-standard lighting and sound equipment was purchased in Spain or brought from UK and installed by Careline Theatre members. The most recent improvements, just in time for the opera-goers, have been more structural in nature, allowing the development of a new foyer and theatre bar. Despite all this expenditure, regular and substantial contributions have been made to the Careline/Com-Sanit charity and funds in the nature of recompense have been paid over to Fontilles.

Careline Theatre is now actively pursuing the purchase of good, second-hand, upholstered theatre seating from UK. The addition of extra toilet facilities within the confines of the theatre is another project which is taxing the brains and ingenuity of members.

By arrangement with the Directors of Fontilles, Careline Theatre is now responsible for the administration of the theatre. With such a remarkable new facility in the area, it is everyone's wish that the best use be made of the opportunity to bring many different types of theatre within the reach of residents and visitors alike. Any groups, of whatever nationality, which may be interested in using the theatre to mount their own productions, should contact Careline Theatre for details. At the same time, should you be interested in lending your support and/or assistance to Careline Theatre or to Viva La Ópera in the future, then please let us know.

This production is the first of what is hoped will be a long succession of co-operative ventures.
